Our rates explained

What's a fixed rate?

- With a fixed rate mortgage your interest rate and monthly payments stay the same for the fixed rate period, usually 2, or 5 years.
- Your monthly payments are protected from the effects of any market interest rate changes during that period. If interest rates increase your payments won't rise; however, if rates decrease your monthly payments won't go down.
- If you want to exit your mortgage during the fixed rate period you'll have to pay early repayment charges (ERCs).
- When the fixed rate period ends, your mortgage is automatically transferred to a variable rate called the Aldermore Managed Rate (AMR). This means your monthly payments could increase or decrease as this variable rate is influenced by other factors such as market interest rate.

What's a discounted variable rate?

- With a 2 year discounted variable rate the interest rate charged on your loan is at the Aldermore Managed Rate (AMR), which is reduced by a set percentage for a period of 2 years.
- The AMR is set by us and is normally influenced by the cost of borrowing. It's not directly linked to but can be influenced by changes in the Bank of England base rate, as well as other market factors. This means your monthly payment can increase or decrease in line with any changes we make to the AMR.
- If you wanted to switch your deal to a new fixed rate with us, during the 2 year discount period, you can do this without being charged ERCs. If you wanted to exit your mortgage during the 2 year discount period, you'd have to pay ERCs
- Once the discount period has come to an end, your mortgage will remain linked to the AMR. This means you'll normally have to make a higher monthly repayment than you made during the initial discount period.

Frequently asked questions

Making changes? I'd like to borrow more on my mortgage

If you're eligible to borrow more on your mortgage you'll be offered a different set of interest rates to the product switch rate(s) we've included this guide. You can contact our Mortgage Advisers at mortgage.advisers@aldermore.co.uk. Find out more at aldermore.co.uk/mortgages/customer-support/borrow-more

I'm on a fixed rate: What happens if I don't switch before my current rate ends?

If you decide not to switch when your fixed rate comes to an end, your mortgage will change to the variable Aldermore Managed Rate. This will happen automatically and the date along with the rate it will change to are included in your renewal letter. We'll also send you a separate letter with the changes to your monthly direct debit. Your monthly payments will then be based on the variable rate and could go up or down.

I'm on a discounted variable rate: What happens if I don't switch when my early repayment charges end?

Once your discount period comes to an end, your mortgage will remain linked to the Aldermore Managed Rate (AMR). This means you'll normally have to make a higher monthly repayment than you made during the initial discount period. As your monthly payments are based on a variable rate they could still go up or down in the future in line with the Aldermore Managed Rate (AMR).

What happens next? When will my mortgage switch to a new rate?

We'll be able to switch your rate up to 17 weeks before the end of your current rate or early repayment charges, if you're eligible. We want to have enough time to change your monthly payment. If you'd like to switch your mortgage for the next calendar month, you'll need to complete your product switch no later than 15 working days before your next direct debit date. We'll then have enough time to set this up for you. E.g. if your direct debit is 1 July 2022, you'll need to have confirmed your product switch no later than 9 June 2022.

How do you work out the Loan to Value (LTV) for a product switch?

We'll use our up to date computer-based valuation along with your existing balance to confirm your product switch rates. If your LTV is over our maximum bands, you can still be considered for a product switch. Please get in touch with our team for more information.
